

Aboriginal Art Symbols

Generations of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples were able to pass down important cultural stories by using symbols and icons portrayed in artwork.

Each symbol communicates and shares the meaning of their life on earth, important rituals, food and customs.

These symbols form an important part of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples Art and can vary from region to region but are generally understood. Aboriginal art has been used for thousands of years to convey stories and messages that are extremely important to their cultures. Aboriginal artists create their works based on how the land was created, basing their subject matter mainly on patterns and animals.

The iconography used when applied to any surface then converts it to having religious or time-honoured meaning.

boomerang

bush berry

bush tucker

campfire

digging sticks

emu tracks

goanna tracks

heavy rain

human tracks

hunting boomerang

kangaroo tracks

man sitting

meeting place

moving kangaroo tracks

people sitting

possum tracks

rain

sandhill or cloud

snake

spear

sun or star

travelling resting place

water

water holes

witchetty grub

woman

women sitting

4 women sitting